

I would like to see the FCC allow any phone number be moved from carrier to carrier. This should include wireless service as well as standard wired telephone service.